

Filing Building Permits Vital to City's Standing

Mayor W. A. Warren and members of the city commission were advised last week by bonding house representatives that Canyon was missing a good bet by not securing building permits for all new construction, and all remodeling which is being done in Canyon.

Under the law construction on the campus of West Texas State does not require building permits, but they may be taken out, and this amount would add substantially to the building record of Canyon.

Mayor Warren contacted President James P. Cornette and was assured that building permits will be taken out on all construction on the campus. The President's home has just been completed, and with the construction of the chapel and gymnasium the building permits of Canyon will be greatly increased.

The new elevator of Consumers Fuel Association is the largest commercial construction underway.

The greatest handicap to building permits in Canyon has been the attitude of local citizens to place such a small value on their construction. Building permits are being issued for homes at $5,000 to $7,000, but when completed these homes have cost up to $20,000 and even more.

"The value placed on building permits has no bearing upon the value placed upon the home by the board of equalization for tax purposes," advised Mayor W. A. Warren. Of the 20 or more homes which have cost $20,000 and even more, not a single one has a building permit of more than half this amount.

The low valuation on this construction is reflecting a very poor state of affairs in Canyon, state authorities, and should be corrected. While owners have been empowered to place such value as they please on their construction in the past, it is noted that in cities like Amarillo the city employs trained construction men who inspect blue prints of all construction, and require the owners to take out building permits equal to the value set by the city employees.

The city ordinance requires that all construction and repairs first have a building permit; and second that the value shall be a true estimate of the value contemplated.

Mrs. Flora Hodges Died Sunday Morn of a Heart Attack

Mrs. Flora Hodges was found dead Sunday morning in her bed at the family home by her companion, Mrs. Eva Burgess. She had been down town Saturday and was seemingly in fine health. She awoke at 2:30 o'clock and complained of a pain in her back. After the electric pad had been placed at her back she said she felt better and returned to sleep. She had not moved and was thought to have died about 4:30 o'clock while in her sleep.

Mrs. Hodges was the widow of the late George W. Hodges. She was 75 years, 10 months and 8 days of age. She had lived in Canyon for 10 years.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Canadian at the First Methodist Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Arthur Kendall.

Survivors are five sons, Gerald Tuckwell of Norman, Okla., Lloyd Tuckwell of Pampa, Dallas Hodges of Canadian, Oliver Hodges of Canadian, Clyde Hodges of Miami, and one daughter, Mrs. Eva DeBond of El Paso. There are 20 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

J. C. Dowd Suffers Heart Attack on Saturday Night

J. C. Dowd has been confined to his home the past week from a heart attack which he suffered Saturday night. He passed the crisis Monday night, according to attending physicians, and seems to be well on the way to recovery.

While Mr. Dowd lives in Canyon, he operates his farm machinery business in Happy.

Walter had made his home in Dallas for several years. All of his family has moved from Canyon.

Large Numbers At Anniversary of Bank Friday

A large group of friends of the First National Bank visited the banking house Friday afternoon to extend congratulations upon the completion of fifty years of service to the community.

Floral greetings came from many of the banks of the nation and friends of the bank in Canyon. These were among the most beautiful ever seen in Canyon. The bank sent large bouquets to the churches of Canyon for their Sunday services, and many of the flowers went to patients who were in the hospital.

Visiting bankers, as well as citizens of Canyon, were very profuse in their praise of the 36-page special edition which was published last week in honor of the bank's anniversary.

"It was one of the most interesting editions that I have ever read," stated Chas. Fisk, vice president of the First National Bank of Amarillo, who is now the oldest banker of Amarillo.

Mrs. Gidden Is Getting Census Counters Ready

Mrs. Ruth McCrerey Gidden has been in school in Amarillo the past week getting ready for the 10 year census which will start on April 1. Mrs. Gidden will be Crew Leader for Randall and Deaf Smith counties.

In order to get first hand information on census taking, all crew leaders were sent into Randall county on Friday and took the census as though they were the actual enumerators. This gave the leaders actual field practice.

Mrs. Gidden hopes to have her crew of nine enumerators appointed during this week. They will "go to school" in Canyon, and receive information as to their duties when the count starts.

Red Cross Will Stage Its Annual Call for Funds

Red Cross work was organized this week for the annual campaign for funds. Work in Randall county is under the direction of Milton Morris, chairman; Mrs. C. O. Elkins, J. W. Shook and Marion Higdon, vice-chairmen; Mrs. Levi Cole, treasurer; Mrs. Jim Strain, chairman of supplies.

$1500 is the goal for the county this year. All workers are eager to reach this goal this week. The campaign continues through next week, but with the cooperation that has been given in the past it is hoped that one week of work will finish the campaign here. Money may be given to the leaders in the different communities, sent to the First National Bank or left with Mrs. Strain at the City Hall.

Leaders or captains for the different sections are: Mrs. Frank Simon, Park; Ralph Ruthardt, Zita; Arley Barnett, Stone; two (not appointed at this writing) Umbarger and one to be appointed for Umbarger School; Herman Vaughn, Lakeside; Trigg and Bushland; M. O. Scott, Earl Burtz and T. C. Gooch, Hudson and Jowell; Joe Byrd and H. M. Kenzie, Garrison; Conway Kuykendall, Ralph and Johnson; Earl Burtz, Pleasant Valley; Harry Hungate, Tierra Blanca, a small part of Garrison and the old Canyon Independent School District east of the Highway; O. A. Smith, Rusk; Mrs. E. A. Michael and Alvan Kuhlman, Palo Duro.

Mrs. R. A. Neblett, southwest part of Canyon; W. J. Phelps, west of High School; W. E. Miller, northwest part of town; Marion Higdon, southeast part of town; Dr. W. J. Wooten, Jr., northwest part of town; Milton Morris, east of Highway; Dan O'Connor, Pueblo Courts.

These leaders may ask others to assist them in this campaign to facilitate the work.

Building Permits in Canyon Are Light During January

According to official reports just issued, Canyon had a very light amount of building permits issued during the month of January.

All building permits were for $18,000. Only two residences were listed with a value of $10,000. The value of the other buildings listed was $8,000.

Marion Bruce Is Candidate County Commissioner 4

MARION BRUCE

Marion Bruce, farmer-stockman of Precinct No. 4, has authorized the Canyon News to announce his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner, Precinct No. 4. His announcement reads:

"I am offering my candidacy to the voters of Precinct No. 4 with the firm belief that I can be of service to them and perform a public service to the entire county. I was born in Randall county, near Ralph where my family lived. My father is Bob Bruce, known to all pioneer farmer-stockmen in Randall county, who now lives in Amarillo. This is the first time I have ever offered for public office.

"I rented a farm in Randall county near Bushland for 7 years, and now for the past 10 years I have lived on my farm two miles south of Llano Cemetery in Randall county. I have engaged in breeding Milking Shorthorns, and sell the whole milk to Amarillo distributors. While I have a good dairy business, if elected as your County Commissioner, I shall devote all of the time necessary to look after the affairs of the Precinct and of Randall county. I would not offer for the office without feeling that I am qualified to do the work, and have the time to look after the business of the county.

"I am married and have four children, all of whom are students in the Amarillo schools. My wife is an active P-TA worker in our school, and has a great interest in public affairs.

"If I am elected to the office, you may rest assured that the taxpayers of South Amarillo and the farmers of the precinct will have a representative on the Commissioners Court who will look after their affairs and will represent them without fear or favor.

"It shall be my aim to see each and every voter of the Precinct during this campaign and to discuss with each the merits of my candidacy. If I should miss any of you, it will be entirely unintentional, and I ask that you take this message as an invitation for your serious consideration of my candidacy," stated Mr. Bruce.

City Election Ticket Arranged For April 4 Vote

With the city election only 20 days away, little interest is being shown in the vote, according to those who have observed other elections.

Only a few of the candidates are making canvasses, while the others are making no bid for places in the coming vote.

Absentee voting may start on March 16 and continue until March 31, or three full days before the election.

The City Commission drew for places among the various candidates and had the ticket printed with the following list of names:

For Mayor: Clyde W. Warwick, Harold D. Curtis, Andy Walsh.

For Commissioners, with two to be elected: Bob Collinsworth, O. W. Parker, Jr., P. E. Lindsey, Clark Jarnagin, Herschel Coffey, R. E. Harrison, G. W. Harwood.

Cold Dropped the Temperature to 8 Degrees Monday

The temperature dropped to 8 degrees above zero Monday morning as the result of a cold wave which has been hovering over the entire nation.

This winter has been very moderate in temperature and among the warmest in many years, according to the weather bureau. No rain has fallen, but the weatherman says there is a chance for moisture this month.

Amarillo Drunk Is Cold Cracked For Insulting Women

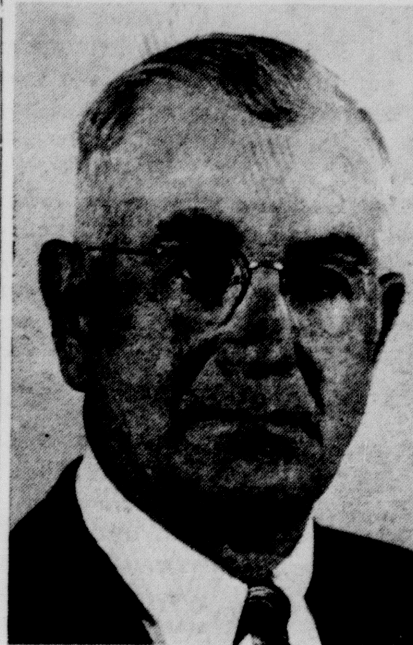

A big boy with too much liquor under his belt staggered down the streets of Canyon last week, insulting women with a flow of curse words.

A Canyon citizen called the hand of the drunk and when he failed to desist took a cold crack which landed the drunk in the hospital for repairs to his cut head.

The young buck no doubt thought he was a pretty big boy as he was downing the poisonous liquor. He probably felt pretty small after he was patched up for repairs.

Mrs. Pauline Groves and children of Stinnett, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wilson and children of Dawn were visitors in the parental P. M. Wilson home over the week end.

John H. Wright Candidate For Commissioner One

JOHN H. WRIGHT

The News is authorized to announce his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner, Precinct No. 1, in Randall county, in which Canyon is located. His announcement reads:

"I have been a resident of Randall County for 20 years and during that time have lived in Precinct one, 1 1/2 miles northeast of Canyon. I have a direct telephone connection with Canyon, and therefore am always available to those who have business with the county.

"If elected as your County Commissioner, I shall strive to give you a cooperative, business-like administration, working with other officials of the county in a way that will serve you best. This office belongs to you, the voters, and I shall always respect your wishes as to the proper conduct of the office.

"I was an operator in the precinct for over 3 1/2 years and know every mile of road in this precinct. I know what is required for maintenance, and will pledge you my personal supervision of all operations.

"All of you know that I stand for strict economy, but at the same time I shall never attempt to handicap our public officials with harsh or unworkable requirements in the conduct of their public duties. Again I say, this is public business, which belongs to the people. I believe in buying all county supplies at home which may be obtained here.

"I stand for 'farm-to-market' roads and will put forth every effort to secure every mile possible for our county, and try to see to it that they are placed for the benefit of the largest number of people.

"I shall try to see each of the voters in this precinct during my campaign but should I miss you, I take this opportunity of asking you for your support," concluded Mr. Wright.

Necessary That All 6-Year Children Be Counted in Census

Parents of children who will be six years of age when school opens this fall should make sure that their child is counted in the annual scholastic census.

This census has nothing to do with the federal census which will start on April 1. This annual scholastic census counts the children of the district who are of scholastic age and for whom the state appropriates money to run the public schools during the coming year.

Lee Foster is taking the census, and asks the cooperation of all parents in the census.

Champions of the State To Be at Cafeteria Feed

Adolph Rupp, basketball coach of the University of Kentucky, will speak on the night of March 23rd when the Quarterback Club will be host to the championship teams of Northwest Texas. Rupp has been chosen for three years as the top basketball coach of the nation.

Guests at the dinner will be the Class A Championship Eagles of Canyon high school; the championship Class B team from Gruver; and the girls' championship team from Dimmitt. All of these teams won their class championships at Austin.

An invitation has been given to the State Championship team from Corpus Christi, the team which defeated Vernon for the AA championship at Austin.

Invitations have been extended to all high schools of this area to send representatives to the dinner, which will be held at the College Cafeteria at 7:30 o'clock. Plates will be $2.50 per person. The club hopes to sell 300 plates in Canyon, and the balance will be for guests and team representatives from the visiting towns.

Rupp is in great demand as a public speaker and the Quarterback Club feels highly pleased that it was able to secure him for this gathering of championship teams of this area.

Governor Shivers Highly Approved Panhandle Museum

A visitor from Nebraska visited the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum Monday and asked Boone McClure for blue prints of the building. He was a member of the building committee of the new state museum, which will soon be erected in Nebraska.

The visitor stated that he had had luncheon with Governor Shivers, who advised him to be sure and visit the plant here, as this was the finest example of a museum that he had visited. The Governor had spent a few hours at the museum while he was Lieutenant Governor, and was given a reception by local citizens at the museum building. Shivers inspected the building and was highly impressed with its arrangement.

Lions Club Will Have Minstrel to Aid Play Fund

On Tuesday evening, March 21, in the College Auditorium, the Lions Club is giving its annual benefit program. This year the proceeds will go to the Canyon Recreation Fund.

Two parts of the program will furnish entertainment and fun for everybody. $1.00 admission will be charged adults, 50c will be charged students. Prices include tax.

In the first part of the program ten black faced characters assisted by a 60 voice chorus will render a Minstrel under the direction of Lion Colbert Held as Master of Ceremonies.

Lions Jarnagin, Windy Miller, Gough, Sidney Burgess, Flynn, Gabe Thompson, Joe Findley, Bud Hickman, Crossland and McGregor will be the blackfaced group. Dr. W. J. Wooten, Jr. will supply surprises during the evening. There will be a series of specialty numbers featuring the chorus, the Varsity Quartet, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fulton, Jr., Rosy Bates, the Girls Trio, Joe Findley, and Dutch Cleavinger and Emmett Smith in duet numbers.

After an intermission the extravaganza "The Cowboy's Dream," narrated by Jim Caldwell should furnish unique entertainment.

Featured in this act will be Bill Hutchinson, baritone; Young 49ers Square Dance Club; Guy Dell Ekelund, student of W. T. now singing with Bobby Burns' Band at the Nat; Rosy Bates' Glamorettes; Dana Rice in her Al Jolson imitations; Mame Shaver as the hussy in the Plot with Joe Findley as Dangerous Dan McGrew.

Every member of the cast is local talent. Houston Bright is directing the music for the show. Frances Bright will be accompanist.

Three Names Are Filed For School Trustees in Canyon

The three retiring trustees of the Canyon Independent School District have been petitioned to accept another term. These trustees are Walter Graham, Mrs. E. D. Harrell and W. R. Crow.

So far as known, there will be no other names on the official ballots when the election is held on April 1.

Dr. J. A. Hill is spending this week in Ft. Worth attending to business.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Voting Is a Privilege As Well As an Obligation on the People

Couple of weeks ago we got to thinking about the lack of interest in political races, and our thoughts naturally turned to the several races to be run during 1950.

First of all will likely come the election of school trustees. The term of office for Walter Graham, Mrs. E. D. Harrell and W. R. Crow will expire this year. Friends have petitioned that their names be printed on the official ballots. Probably no other candidates will offer. This is one of the most important offices in Randall county, and the school board has a terrific job ahead. The election will be on April 1st.

On Tuesday, April 4 will come the city election at which time a new City Commission will be named. We had hoped that the present City Commission would continue in office until the many local projects are completed. All of the present commission decided to get out. The News outlined some of the local problems last week, and the size of the job ahead is terrific, and will demand a lot of thought on the part of the new commission.

Then we have coming up a special election for Congressman to succeed Judge Gene Worley. When he resigns from the House there will be a scramble for candidates to succeed him. It would seem that practically every county in the district is hoping to put out its favorite son or daughter to make the race. We are wondering just how much interest these candidates will be able to stir up in this special election.

Then will come the Democratic primaries and the general election in November. Since a president will not be elected until 1952 we are still wondering. If a president was up for election, you could count on a big response of voters, with practically all of them pouring to the polls. We simply like to vote for the President of the United States, in spite of the fact that in Texas our vote counts for little or nothing.

We reached the conclusion that our Democracy needs some sort of shot in the arm which will make us more proud of our local government, and more responsive to its needs and its operations.

We see that a candidate for Congress says that he has not met a single voter who was in favor of President Truman. Since this candidate announces on a platform of an "ager," he thinks that all of those who think like he does will vote for him. Maybe they will, and maybe they won't. We have observed that the voters are not easily swayed by political prophets who would lead us down the blind alley and who offer us nothing but themselves as a sacrifice to the well being of the country. The folks may be opposed to the White House, but they will be rather choicy in selecting their representatives who will represent them, if and when the wings of the President are clipped.

The Canyon school board, the City Commission, and the officers who serve in the court house are of much greater importance to all of us than the question of whom we send to Washington, or who may live in the White House for four years.

Let's assume the obligations and responsibilities of citizenship by voting—and voting intelligently.

After All Sound Government Means Prosperity to All

During the past weeks all of us have been reading of the influence of government on sound business in foreign lands. Some of our local citizens have been to Old Mexico where the government is doing little to improve the welfare of the people.

Others have been to South America which is the land of opportunity, if there was a sound government in charge to administer public affairs. Others have seen the wreckage in both Europe and Asia by aggressive nations which have been top-heavy with government.

This all stacks up to just one thing: We may not be so highly impressed by our government, but it is the best government in the world, and we have a great obligation toward our government.

Our duty and obligation calls for an intelligent participation in all affairs of government. If our government does not suit us, go about it in an orderly manner to try to improve the government, to make it better, rather than ache and determine to tear it to pieces, without providing something better, a sound government means prosperity.

Government bonds are the favored investment for those who do not wish to put their money in local loans. Where could you find a safer, or a sounder means of investment?

Protest Against Continuous Parking Is Getting Results

"As soon as The Canyon News came out last week, I went out and moved my car," stated a Canyon citizen Thursday morning.

Attention was called to the fact that so many Canyon folks were parking their cars in front of their places of business that their customers were forced to park elsewhere. This isn't right.

While The News has called attention to this practice a number of times in the past, we shall continue hammering on the subject.

Wouldn't you rather walk a block in order to park your car, rather than have your customers be forced to walk because you insist in taking up space in front of your business? Fair question, don't you think?

Want to Buy Newspaper?

Want to buy a newspaper: No, not The Canyon News, but a small plant in a small town nearby.

The owner tells us that he is anxious to sell, and while we have not investigated, it looks like a pretty good deal for a man and wife newspaper team.

Before you overlook it, send in your check to the Red Cross so that the organization will not have to overlook calls for help in 1950.

This is the time of the year when every resident of Canyon should take another step in the work of making it more beautiful than ever.

Soviet Russia, so we hear, is building a large fleet of submarines, these, it should be plain, are not intended for land warfare.

An efficiency expert is one who believes that it is easier to get somebody else to work than to do the work.

City Urges Citizens to Make Accurate Building Estimates

The News has been a little embarrassed at times in looking over building permits of other towns, and seeing how the amounts have exceeded those of Canyon's. We have been fully aware of the building surge in Canyon, but our totals for building permits have been very, very low.

Mayor W. A. Warren calls attention to the fact that when folks build in Canyon they put a very small valuation on the construction, thereby seeking to avoid the eagle eye of the board of equalization.

Building permits are nothing more or less than an estimate, as we build in Canyon. Most of these estimates are very low, when you start construction, and therefore it will help the financial structure of the city to put the total estimate in the permit.

The big cities employ competent engineers to figure blue prints and place a true and accurate estimate upon all construction. While Canyon cannot afford such a luxury, it would certainly help our building permits by having competent analysis and evaluation placed upon such construction before the buildings are started.

Recreation at Gainesville Is An Effective Community Circus

There is one circus that we are determined to see in 1950—unless we break a leg, or something equally as disastrous. That is the Gainesville Community Circus which comes to Amarillo June 2-3. We have been reading about this circus for years. It is not so much a finished production as the big tops, but the performers are all local business folks, who make their living just like the rest of us, and put on the circus as their recreation.

Perhaps no other town in the world would seek to do what Gainesville is doing in the way of a circus. At least, few other towns of such a size would be able to attract so many experienced circus performers to come and live and to play with them.

The circus is the life of Gainesville. It is the play of Gainesville. It should be an example of what play can do for a community, when that community has an objective for its play, and sets about in an orderly manner to accomplish a goal.

Yes, we're going to the circus!

J. E. McDonald Decides To Again Save the State of Texas

J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, has decided that Texas cannot get along without his services, and will therefore run for his 13th term.

Old Mac announced early in the year that he would not be a candidate.

He is of the opinion that while wise men change their minds, fools never do. He has therefore changed his mind and has tossed his hat into the ring.

There has never been so independent a politician in Texas as McDonald. He is bitterly opposed to the Democratic administration in Washington and its dealings with the agricultural problem. He has been most vocal in his protests.

A number of opponents were lured into the race by his original announcement. We shall now see what they will do about the campaign.

Sheriff at Hereford Picked Up Graft—Returned $832

The sheriff over at Hereford must be an alert fellow. He collected from an advertising grafter $832 for refund to Hereford firms. This solicitor collected funds for a so-called directory for the new hotel which was completed last week. But the so-called directory was never printed, and the solicitor had no idea of printing one.

The maximum collected from local firms in Hereford was $130, and the minimum $36.

All newspaper men marvel at the gall of this bunch of grafters, and further marvel as to how gullible some folks are in forking over their hard earned cash to a group who hit town and go to work on such blue-sky schemes.

Slip in Type Made Error in Age of The Canyon News

The Canyon News is not 55 years old, as stated last week, but we have reached our 55th year. Our editorial was wrong, but our first page is right. It was a slip of type.

A reader at West Texas State wrote us a friendly letter in which he called attention to the error as to age. If The News used the old system of Volume numbering, true enough we would have reached Volume 55 last week, but this does not make us 55 years of age. It reminds us of the old practice that a child has his first birthday on the day that he was born, and has his second birthday one year later. Newspapers are not like folks, however, we rather glory in growing, with continuous service.

Labor Favors Timmons in Race

In his race for Congress, Blake Timmons has the endorsement of organized labor. While this may bring him hundreds of voters to his support, it may drive many others away from him. No doubt Mr. Timmons is highly pleased that labor has come out for him. It is quite a block of votes.

The other candidates are taking advantage of the endorsement, and will seek to put Timmons on the defense.

If you know your economy you will know, without being told, that The Canyon News is one of the few things you can buy at a price comparable to that of ten years ago.

Every politician would like to win by a thumping majority but a majority, which carries the office, is always acceptable.

Those who are in favor of the protective tariff and against protective payments to farmers should stand up and be counted.

It is not the present vogue to suggest that the Anglo-Saxons may have contributed to what the civilized world calls its freedom.

Mrs. Newton Harrell Writes Final Letter on Trip to South America With Group of Texas Cattlemen

Leaving Buenos Aires amid colorful carnival time, similar to Mardi Gras in New Orleans, we took taxis to the airport.

The custom officials like cowboys, we are told. Boots and hats were inspected as they laughed and tried to talk to us. So we went through customs without the usual inspection.

By motor launch we were taxied out to the sea plane, leaving behind the jagged skyline of Buenos Aires, many skyscrapers. Many ships were backed up behind the breakwater in the harbor lining the shore.

Only 20 minutes time was consumed in flying 50 miles across the wide La Plata River to Colonia, Uruguay.

This small country of Uruguay, the size of South Dakota, has 2½ million people, 9 million cattle, with more cars and more cattle per capita than any other country in South America.

We had the privilege of spending the night and morning in a beautiful old Estancia belonging to Jose Maria Elorza. To reach it we crossed the River Negro by ferry, then drove miles and miles over rough country roads north of Colonia along the Argentine border the road took us finally to the Estancia.

The country resembles eastern Kansas, with its rolling plains and fields dotted with trees and houses. Every small land owner has some dairy cattle, sheep and a few horses. There are few small towns and mail is carried by bus.

Two and one-half pounds of beef per person per day is the average meat consumption—more than any other place in the world. There is no need for extra supplies since they have gardens, orchards and vineyards.

The Estancia has been owned by the Elorza family for 70 years. It takes 70 people to keep it in operation. It resembles an old feudal castle with its heavy dark carved furniture, marble busts and heavy sterling silver. Ceilings 18 feet high, double doors 10 feet high and carrying one large carved silver door knob in the center panel are interesting points. Two sets of double doors at the back entrance of the vestibule were colored glass top half covered over all with grille and bars which give protection.

In the center of the house a bright sun room, skylighted like the old Spanish patios, was the only bright room. The others were kept dark to keep out the flies.

Opening into this patio are ten doors leading from the kitchen, diningroom, bedrooms and hallway to the front and back.

Seven bedrooms with shutters over the windows inside and out were fitted with beautiful old brass beds. Covering the beds were white woven spreads. On a table in the corner stood a table with a large silver pitcher and bowl. All bedrooms had large old wardrobes for closets. (This is a fact in all of South America.) The floors in patio and bathrooms are made of tile with old Spanish designs. The remainder of the house had hardwood floors laid in patterns of strips a foot long.

The four bathrooms vary. One very large bath, with 3 doors, served 3 rooms. It was fitted with fine old fixtures and varied somewhat to those we have in the U. S. The room was as large as an ordinary living room and about as private.

The dining room, flitted for flies and darkened in preparation for a meal, created a picture of elegance and grandeur equal to any tale we hear of old Southern plantations.

The doors and windows of this room were hung with heavy maroon drapes, having cornices 3 feet higher than the already tall windows covered in the same material. Each window had double doors of small glass panes, opening in the middle and swinging in. The center panels are fitted with white scrim on tiny rods attached to panes. Five feet of dark wainscoting cover the walls terminating in a marble fireplace. Two beautiful heavy old buffets and long glass china closet contained the china and crystal of an aristocratic family. Heavy silver bowls, urns and trophies ornamented the sideboards.

Two maids served deftly and graciously the many courses, with fresh plates and silver between each course. The linens were changed for each meal of course and to have fresh linens, napkins and dishes for 30 people for three meals was something.

From huge platters and bowls of silver we were served a four course dinner of fish, chicken, beef with vegetables, cake with grapes and coffee. The pound cake about the size and shape of a pie, looked like a hand painted china plate, so delicate were the decorations.

The gardens surrounding the place were a veritable paradise of quiet, beauty and sunshine.

Sr. Elorza and his son were such kind and gracious hosts.

The Senor had a herd of 300 registered Hereford cows, some weighing 1500 to 1600 pounds. One 23 month old bull weighed a ton. In all he had 10,000 cattle, 20,000 sheep on his 50,000 acres of land.

Many fine thorough-bred Hereford cattle graze on Uruguay's rich grass lands. The country has a stable currency and a dislike for being in debt. Sales tax is about the only tax they have.

An Oklahoma boy, Hugh Maness, with the American Embassy, married the daughter of a wealthy rancher. We were invited to his father-in-law's Estancia for a barbeque. In Uruguay it's called Asado con cuero (beef with the hair intact, not even singed.) They had roast beef and pork, fresh tomatoes and two fresh peaches. The cowhide that I saw on the table in the back porch, folded together with the meat side in and flies around the edge, turned out to be our lunch. The meat was cut into squares with this red hair next to the plate. We were old to eat it and smile if it killed us and it came near doing just that. However, we wouldn't take anything for the experience. Mr. Beaty asked me loudly, across the table, how I liked it and with a sickly grin I lied glibly.

This Estancia of 200,000 acres once belonged to the president of Uruguay. The present owner made a profit last year of $400,000. He paid for the place in one year.

The land has a value of $70 an acre for good bottom land. They maintained a herd of 2,000 steers and 300 thoroughbred cows.

Our group was so large that we had to "split up" with half of them staying at the largest Estancia in Uruguay of 800,000 acres, belonging to the Romay brothers. The ranch had belonged to a German syndicate before the war. When the stock company became involved in some trouble, the Romay boys' grandfather bought it cheaply. They had 14,000 acres in wheat; 20,000 sheep and 13,000 Hereford cattle.

Montevideo slipped by us, as our itinerary only allowed for an overnight stop there. The stores were closed at night but the iron curtains over the windows were not there as they had been in all the other countries. There were many more things in the show windows to buy; such as, G. E. equipment and new cars. There was even a department store. There were many people on the streets having a good time but apparently going nowhere.

BRAZIL: In the airport at Montevideo Newton and Mr. Blankenship were interviewed for the Uruguayan Cattleman Magazine and the press.

Upon our arrival in Sao Paulo, Brazil, there were the usual photographers, but we were rushed off by the Policio amid some arguing for us to wait while the Policio decided what to do with us. We finally got a picture made; got to the hotel without passports to be told we couldn't register without passports. Then followed another wait, with us so nervous we were standing first on one foot then the other. Meanwhile one of our party was left at the airport without our hotel address. We finally got together; straightened things out; had a good meal and went to bed.

Armour Packing Company had made plans for us next day. The men went through the plant with a host of officials. Their wives and friends joined the group for lunch at Armour's Club Room. Ab Blocker's son, buyer for Armour; Charles A. Muesser, Wilson Packing Co., were among the group.

Armour and Co. slaughters 235,000 cattle per year and 90,000 hogs. The cattle are often as long as nine days on the road to market and won't eat during that time. Growers can't afford to feed them so they are sometimes rather gaunt when slaughtered. Ranchers say there is no foot and mouth disease or pay little attention to it. We saw a case of foot and mouth disease and also a hog with cholera.

Mr. Patterson, with the Paraguayan Embassy in government extension service, helped to arrange our trip into the coffee and cattle country west of Sao Paulo. Mr. Patterson is a friend of a friend of Miss Jean Moore of Canyon. He had received a letter from Miss Moore on the morning he joined us.

Sr. O. A. Ferraz with his family, sons, daughters, brothers, their children, grandchildren and many workers were lined up in front of his airport as we landed on his private runway. His own photographer was on hand, taking movies of us mingling with his family and friends. He also took shots of the Ferraz's beautiful herds of show cattle. These pictures were to be shown at the local theatres.

A cowboy on horseback came by blowing on a long, crooked, cow horn with a large herd of "Zebu" cattle trailing behind him. He had rounded up 1400 head of cattle for us to see. They were in small pastures and gentle as lambs. They are very curious animals and as the horn gave a low grunt resembling their call it was easy for the cowboy to get them together.

"Zebu" are a kind of Brahman breed. There are four different kinds of Zebu. The "Nelore," best adapted to this climate, have smaller ears and are white to dark grey in color. They are beef cattle and get fat on grass. The "Cyr" are smaller animals, all colors with long ears. They give more milk. "Guzerat" are dark gray to gray with long ears. They are a cross between "Cyr" and "Nelore." "Indu Brazil" are larger animals, making both more meat and more milk.

Sr. Ferraz's Fazenda has 50,000 acres of fine grass land and coffee plantations. (This area has 60 inches of rainfall a year.) He maintains a herd of 50,000 cattle and half a million coffee trees. He employs 600 workers plus their families. The land is rolling. Coffee trees grow all over the top, covering steep hillsides which are terraced to prevent erosion.

Orchid corsages and boxes of candy were presented to the ladies under an improvised shade near a bamboo thicket. To the spell of native music and a gay atmosphere we had another wonderful barbeque.

Roast lamb and beef were prepared over an open fire with long sticks being run through the strips of meat. The meat was sliced off the stick onto your plate. A drink made of sugar cane and lemon was served. Vegetables served were tomatoes, beets, Irish potatoes and a root like sweet potato was ground up fine. This last resembled sawdust in looks and taste. The tasty dessert was whipped avocado with pineapple.

Senor's family were as fine looking group as one will ever see. His handsome wife, a beautiful, dark-haired, fair skinned woman of 40 (Continued on page seven)

Depletion on Oil Wells Is Vitally Needed

General Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the Texas Railroad Commission has said that the future security of the United States is imperilled by the proposal of the Treasury Department to slice the oil industry's depletion allowance from 27½ to 15 per cent. He pointed out that "our expanding economy depends upon the continued discovery in this country of new oil deposits," and stated that any change in the present depletion allowance will remove the incentive and "almost stop" these essential discoveries.
The reason for the adequate depletion allowance for the oil industry is simple. To find new oil, wells must be drilled—and 81 out of each 100 exploratory wells turn out dry. The drillers must go down from 10,000 to 12,000 feet in their search, and the cost of a worthless dry hole may be as much as $500,000. The depletion allowance is a necessary help in meeting these costs.

To quote General Thompson again, "It does not seem wise economy to disturb the present system which has built up a daily excess reserve oil producing ability here at home of 700,000 barrels per day since 1945. Left undisturbed as the law now stands on depletion, the oil explorers will find the needed reserves for our expanding economy and for the national defense. It is a pretty sound idea to leave alone a plan that is getting the job done so well."

Oil is one of the biggest tools of peace—and one of the vital weapons of defense. Only a suicidal policy would imperil our production of it.

Tour Into Mexico Met With Warm Friendliness

The thirty students, who left Canyon on March 5 in the chartered bus for the tour into Mexico sponsored by W. T. under the direction of Dr. Pies Harper, were deeply impressed by the warm friendly reception they were given at every stop.

The Chamber of Commerce at Eagle Pass had asked to be given the time of arrival of the group in that city. A number of cars drove out to meet the bus about four miles from the city. A police escort met them about a mile from town. Banners bearing the greeting "Welcome West Texas State" were draped across the hotel where the group had reservations. While the group were in their room dressing to meet members of the Chamber of Commerce again at 7:15, Mexican musicians paraded the corridors serenading them with Mexican music. When they descended to the lobby, the girls were given beautiful corsages. The group was divided into small parties and taken in private cars to Piedras Negras, across the border, for dinner in a beautiful night club. Dinner was served to approximately 100 people, the Canyon group and members of the Chamber of Commerce. When the proprietor learned that the students were representatives of West Texas State on tour in Mexico, he would not allow the Chamber of Commerce to pay for their plates, but stood those himself.

Enroute to Saltillo, capital of Coahuila, the group stopped off the regular route to visit Monclova, the capital of Texas and Coahuila when they were one state under the Mexican government.

From Saltillo the tour went to Torreon, a clean, progressive city of 125,000, located in a large irrigated valley where alfalfa, cotton, wheat and barley are the principal crops. Here they were extended courtesy cards to swim in the beautiful swimming pool at their gorgeous Country Club. They were conducted through the club house which is exceptionally beautiful and far and above average size. At one time 2000 people danced comfortably in their many ballrooms that can be thrown into one huge room.

Friendliness and warm hospitality of the people met everywhere was exceptional and exceeded the expectations of all.

From Torreon the tour lead west to the junction with the Juarez-Durango Highway, a beautiful paved road just completed last year. This part of the tour was through gentle rolling country, dotted with oak trees and covered with luxuriant curly mesquite grass on which grazed beautiful Hereford and Black Angus cattle.

Paral, where the party had lunch, is the center of a silver and lead mining area. It was here that Poncho Villa was assassinated.

Chihuahua City, capital of Chihuahua, was visited for two nights and a day. One of the most interesting places visited was the new 200 acre Recreation Area where there is a large gymnasium, baseball stadium, two or three swimming pools, handball courts, tennis courts, 8 outdoor basketball courts, picnic areas, lovely drives, adequate parking spaces and every conceivable convenience for recreation.

In Chihuahua the party visited the wife of Poncho Villa in her lovely home that is being restored by the government as a memorial to her husband who in spite of his ruthlessness contributed much to the improvement of the life of the peoples of Mexico.

Menus in the Hilton Hotel carried captions to West Texas State all during the stay of the party in their hotels in Mexico.

At the same time that the W. T. group was enjoying the friendliness and hospitality of all they met, the chaperones of the group received numerous compliments on the behavior, courtesy and friendliness of the students.

After spending the night in El Paso the party returned to Canyon Sunday.

Mann Sentenced to 35 Years in Prison For Murder Brother

Billy Mac Mann was brought into district court Saturday and was sentenced by Judge Henry S. Bishop to 35 years in the penitentiary. This was the punishment assessed Mann by the jury in the recent trial.

Mann professed that he was innocent in the charge of shooting his brother, Donald. His family did not ask for a sanity hearing, as was intimated after the end of his murder trial.

How to Live at Peace Under the Pressure of Time

Dr. Lance Webb of Dallas was the speaker at the Rotary Club Tuesday. He is pastor of the University Park Methodist Church, Dallas, and was here to give a series of lectures at the College. He was introduced by Rev. Hubert Thomson.

"There are a dozen different things demanding our attention," stated the speaker. "We have so little time, and therefore each person must make the most of his time." Three suggestions were made as to the use of time:

1. Discover the most important things, and then settle down to these things. Don't be like the fellow who mounts his horse and rides off in all directions at the same time. We do not have the time to accomplish everything that we would like to do, so find out the important things and do them well. Little things crowd in to distract our attention.

2. Do one thing at a time. No person can divide his attention between many small, even unimportant things.

3. Have a quiet mind. In order to make the most of time, each person must get rid of impatience. Don't be upset by adversities. Take time to think; to grow a soul. Take time to live; get acquainted.

Visitors were Mrs. Hubert Thomson and Mrs. Weldon Butler of Canyon; Rev. J. B. Thompson of Tulsa; Rev. Pete Peterson of Plainview; Roy Byrd, Arthur Osgood, J. C. Rogers, J. O. McGuire, all of Amarillo.

Seven Negroes Are Held on Narcotic Charge by Police

Seven Negroes from Amarillo were picked up late Thursday evening on the highway between Amarillo and Canyon, and are being held on charges of having narcotics in their possession.

The Negroes had a load of band instruments and were reported to be on their way to Snyder to play at a dance. Highway Patrolmen were tipped off that the band had the narcotics and the car was searched carefully to determine the amount of dope to be found. The haul was not as great as expected, but is sufficient to land the band in federal prison when the case is tried, according to officers.

Mrs. John McDonough and son, John Michael, of Plainview visited with Mrs. Maggie Tinnin last Thursday.

Mrs. C. H. Jarrett has returned home after having spent most of the fall and winter in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gibson, in Skellytown, where they are both teaching.

The worst feeling in the world!

Nine years old and he can't play with the gang! His parents say two or three of the boys are different and he shouldn't associate with them.

What do they mean, different? He remembers that only a few days ago his history teacher told him that all Americans are equal—all citizens of one country and all working together.

This kid judges the rest of the gang by their individual personality, character and how they play ball—not by their race or religion.

Each race, each religion, contributes its own talents, culture and idealism to produce that amazing blend of ideas and vigor which have made America great. This boy wants to be proud of his country . . . not ashamed of it—and he can be if we don't influence him to the contrary!

Make sure that you are not spreading rumors against a race or a religion. Speak up, wherever you are, against prejudice, and work for better understanding. Remember that's what it means—to be a good American citizen.

Mrs. Harrell Writes

years, was dressed in a lovely green linen gown. Her nails were beautifully manicured; her hair cut short. She wore nylons and beautiful expensive pumps. The young girls (and there are many beautiful ones in Brazil), daughters, daughters-in-law and nieces were as lovely young ladies as you would find in a picked group in a select boarding school. Their summer dresses and shoes were smart French and American models. They wore the short hair style. Many could speak English and we had a good time asking questions all around.

Sr. Ferraz was a lovable, gentle man to his family and grandchildren. Of his little three year old grandson he said, "He is just a little lump of sugar," as he chuckled him under the chin and kissed him. He and his family made us feel that we had made some close friends. Their country home was comfortable but not elaborate.

UBERABA: Two hundred fifty miles west of Sao Paulo amid coffee plantations and cattle country lies Uberaba, center of the cattle industry in Brazil. For display of their Zebu cattle, they have a lovely Fair Park or Fat Stock Show Grounds, with permanent buildings. Their club for cattlemen and breeders, where the records were kept, meetings held, and banquets served was a large building with club rooms uprising several floors. Dr. Carlos Smith, president of the Rural Society of Cattle Raisers in Uberaba and his wife together with several other doctors and their wives gave us a royal welcome. Printed programs were presented to us of plans made for entertaining us during the two days of our stop there. We visited nearby ranches or Fazendas in Brazil, seeing the finest Zebu cattle in the country. We were served refreshments in their comfortable farm homes. The gardens surrounding one Fazenda was full of living animals, boats, airplanes, oxen, figures and birds formed by trimming and wiring a variety of cedars. The family was very wealthy and lived well, although they say there is little to buy in South America.

Our hosts had seven children but were still young as they had been married only eleven years. We were shown through the home. Three bedrooms I remember very well. Two rooms contained a full bed and two half beds on either side with railing around 3 sides of the little beds. In the other room were three half beds.

The people were handsome and charming. No where have I seen prettier girls or such good looking young men.

Uberaba is a town of 50,000 people with nine hospitals and many doctors. Our host, Dr. Smith, is a surgeon, specializing in stomach ulcers. He attributes the prevalence of ulcers to a lack of a balanced diet. The average life span is only 20 years, I was told.

There are not too many people who can afford to live in the higher bracket, but I think they just don't like vegetables. There were fewer really poor people here than in most towns. They had a housing project for the working class. Also Henry Ford had built an Industrial School for the poor children.

In the park and one narrow street the young people did their courting. The girls in twos and threes walk down one side and up the other while the boys watch from the cobblestone pavement between the walks. Nobody stops to talk. They just look. The girls must always be chaperoned. Oh! they might flip off once or twice to a show after they are engaged. Mr. Ferraz explained that his niece was engaged, but we could easily see that as the couple were embracing most of the time and not minding us at all.

At each Fazenda we were shown the finest breeds of Zebu cattle. The second day at Uberaba we were driven by Brazilian native drivers in cars over twenty-five miles of rough country roads and ferried to an island where we had a barbecue in a barn. There were not many flies but two cute little pigs seemed to resent being ousted for our benefit, but they ate with us anyway. It was an elaborate feast with many different foods attractively served. The roast beef was served on long sticks as before.

We saw a little boy riding one of the sticks as a hobby horse and throw it down. Mr. Finch picked it up and stood it up against something. In a few minutes along came someone who began slicing off the meat and eating it. We had seen no screens in South America. Oh, well! a clean pig never gets fat, so they say. The people we saw really are clean and neat about everything else.

Guarana, made from seeds of a melon, is a refreshing drink something like pineapple juice and helps quench one's thirst. Water is not a required beverage here as everyone drinks wine or something; hence, it is really impossible to get a drink of water. Palm hearts from palm trees is a common dish. Olives grow abundantly. Fresh figs, avocados and bananas are plentiful. Rice, black beans, meat and strong coffee is the staple diet of the working class.

All the tile roofs are made of native brick red soil. An aerial view of the towns makes one think of Tascos in Mexico.

Many cook stoves we have seen in the kitchens on the ranches are made of concrete about 4 feet long by 2 feet wide, with a long piece of iron through the middle for cooking. The end of the stove is left open for firewood. The wood is not cut. Several logs can be seen projecting out into the house, only the ends in the fire with smoke boiling out all around. In one house there were two such stoves; one with a small oven, where the cooking was done for the hired help by a very black native woman. The kitchens were usually full of flies.

Each time our women hostesses left us for a little rest, they came back in fresh smart looking clothes, beautiful manicures and marcelled hair. The men wear white linen suits or light colors and are never seen without coats.

These warm hearted people gave us a glimpse of their life and it isn't bad. The women do nothing but manage their servants and a little fancy work.

Food is brought to their doors. Their children have tutors, where they live in the country. Of course, this is only the very well to do class. They have their labor problems too, in finding someone who knows how to do anything.

With a feeling of having left dear friends behind we regretfully departed for Sao Paulo.

The governor of Sao Paulo, Sr. Adhemar De Barros, sent Capt. Generio Nitritini to offer us his private DC3 to see any points of interest we had missed. We were ready to leave for Rio so had to decline his offer. This is only an example of the way we were received everywhere.

Rio, the most glamorous city of the Americas, still remains unique upon the face of the earth, with a panorama repeated nowhere else.

From the air the landscape resembles the work of a giant bull dosher spilling earth in mounds and as it flows spreading out into many fingers of promontories, opening up one bay after another between. The smooth conical mountains are a velvety green outlined with white beaches. The Christ, a huge statue on one tall peak, Sugar Loaf mountain, another peak 110 feet high, which we reached by cable car, are only two of the many mounds of the Sierra Range. The city spreads out filling all the valleys in between. The sight from the top of Sugar Loaf is like being suspended in midair in a big balloon so one can absorb the beauty, which times does not permit from the plane.

We stopped at the Copa Cabana Beach Hotel, where we ate out doors with the swimming pool on one side and the beach on the other. While we watched both ways, we saw big steamers come by on their way into port.

The women and a few men shopped for semi-precious stone. We bought a few unset stones for which Brazil is famous. The aqua marine, topaz, amethyst, turmaline and many others we found very attractive.

Last but not least of our impressions of Latin America was their slow unruffled life of ease until they get into a car. Then they are like mad men turned loose. They go racing around curves on two wheels, taking the paint off cars going by so close, narrowly miss street cars and escape wrecks by inches. We had only 3 jolts with minor bruises among our party but no casualties.

We had difficulty in being understood. We often ate bread and jam for breakfast and called it a meal because we could not make ourselves understood.

From our viewpoint after having seen the best cattle in nearly every state in South America, we were much impressed with the quality of cattle being produced on fine grass range. The condition of the ranges, even in a dry year showed what tremendous possibilities might be developed.

Steers are marketed there three or four years old on grass alone. During that time they become fat and thin as the seasons vary. If an improved grazing or supplementary feeding program could be introduced to market in two years without the variations in weight it could solve many problems.

Leaving Rio after dark we had our last look at her in all her bejewelled glitter and splendor. While circling the city to gain altitude before climbing over the mountains, we were given a view of a beautiful panorama. On the right the Statue of Christ came clearly into view, giving us a dramatic ending to our tour of South America.

City Candidates Were Guests of The Lions Club

All candidate for city office were invited to be guests of the Lions Club Wednesday at the weekly luncheon. Of the ten candidates who will be on the ticket, only five appeared. The balance were evidently fearful of the treatment they would receive.

The candidates were seated at a separate table, decked out in mourning, with a big sign calling attention to the group. No political speeches were allowed, but the group was the subject of plenty of good natured razzing.

Seated at the candidate table were Andy Walsh, Clark Jarnagin, R. E. Harrison, O. W. (Bud) Parker and Clyde Warwick.

Houston Bright, accompanied by Mrs. Bright, directed the group in singing the choruses for the minstrel which will be held soon for the benefit of the recreational program of Canyon.

Captain Roland S. Black Located at Camp Hood, Texas

CAPTAIN ROLAND S. BLACK

New assistant operations and training officer for the 42nd Armored Infantry Battalion at Camp Hood, Texas is Capt. Roland S. Black of Canyon.

Captain Black joined the 36th Infantry Division, National Guard in 1934. While training at Camp Bowie after the guard was federalized he was commissioned a second lieutenant April 1941.

He received promotion to first lieutenant shortly after the Division arrived at its new training site at Camp Blanding, Fla., in Dec. 1941.

In April 1943, he landed at Oran in North Africa with the Division. Captain Black, as Company Executive Officer, participated in the Italian invasion at Salerno with the 36th Division and fought through the entire Italian campaign.

A year after his return to the U. S. in Aug. 1944 he was promoted to the rank of Captain.

Captain Black was separated from the service in 1946 and returned to active duty in 1947. After a short assignment at Fort Ord, Calif., he was assigned to the Far East Command in Korea.

He returned to the U. S. in Dec. 1949 and was assigned to the US Army and Air Force Recruiting Station in Dallas and later reassigned to duty at Camp Hood, Feb. 20.

Mrs. R. R. Clark Speaks to S. S. Teachers-Parents

"In my opinion, church school teachers are more important than public school teachers. The most important work is in the nursery department to get a complete foothold for a religious attitude toward life," said Mrs. R. R. Clark in an address to the teachers and parents of the Methodist Church school Monday evening.

Mrs. Clark, director of children's work of the Amarillo Division, talked to the members about guiding children in Christian religion. She cited pamphlets to help both parents and teachers in this aim. The object of the church school should be to teach children to play and share together in Christian living.

She reminded parents that religious education begins in the home. Teachers try to guide children in worship in their own environment but parents must assume the main responsibility.

Mrs. Clark's address was the climax of a covered dish supper in Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Larry Holman was toastmaster with Rev. Hubert Thomson giving the invocation. Each department superintendent was introduced and she in turn led the group in songs used in her division.

Highlighting the program was a skit by Dan O'Connor, "Getting 'em Off in the Morning-Sunday Morning, That Is."

Fifty parents and teachers were present with two visitors, Mrs. A. C. Black and Mrs. C. M. Kiker, accompanying Mrs. Clark from Amarillo.

ATTEND FAMILY REUNION

Dinner was served at the banquet hall in the Masonic Temple. Fifty-eight members of the family were in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson of Mondamin, Iowa, were there. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Curtis are sisters.

Early American Life Revealed In "Pocahontas"

The Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre of New York, which last year in Canyon gave "The Snow Queen" before an audience of more than eight hundred children, is returning on Monday, March 20, with a performance of "Pocahontas."

The play will begin at 1:30, in the Auditorium of West Texas State College Administration Building. Admission is forty cents for children, seventy-five cents for adults. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door. Mrs. Joseph Findley is in charge of arrangements for the play, which is brought to Canyon under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Women.

Authentic source materials in American history have been used in the dramatization of the appealing story of Pocahontas. This Indian princess appears first as a little girl of ten years; the incidents of her adventurous life during the next few years are shown against a background of rich ceremonials, firelight dances, and authentic Indian songs.

Prominent in the play are Captain John Smith and the first white settlers in Virginia in 1605. When Captain Smith and his band of English settlers arrived in Virginia they brought with them fire-arms, rum, a few silken pretties, and a liberal supply of glass beads and bracelets. In return for these dubious benefits, they received from the Indians: corn and potatoes, which were to revolutionize the diet of Europe; the red-men taught their conquerors how to preserve food grown in the summer so that it would last through the year, thereby helping to alleviate the dreadful famines which paralyzed northern Europe winter after winter; the Indians' gift of tobacco became the most treasured cargo on the seven seas, and caused a new industry to flourish in the Old World. And the 'savages' of America instructed the invaders in methods of dying, weaving, and embroidery which were put to profitable use throughout the world.

In each scene there is vivid color, hearty laughs, and excitement.

Hamlin Collection Furnishes Exhibit For Book Club Tea

An exhibit of works of Southwestern Artists from the Hamlin Collection in the Museum furnished the center of interest at the tea given by the Woman's Book Club at the Museum, Wednesday, March 8.

Following a short business session conducted by Mrs. James P. Corneille, Mrs. R. A. Nebbett introduced the program. Mrs. S. H. Condron gave a sketch on the life of the late Judge J. D. Hamlin. A. G. Kieselbach and Miss Isabelle Robinson from the art department of West Texas State gave a resume of the life of the artists and discussed their works that were included in the exhibit. These artists for the most part had done their work while in Taos, New Mexico.

Blooming potted plants were placed at vantage points in the Mary E. Hudspeth Room, the setting of the exhibit. An attractive arrangement of daffodils centered the table from the collection of Miss Hudspeth.

Thirty-two members and two guests, Mrs. Biggs of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Boone McClure, and the guest speakers were served tea from an attractive table presided over by Mrs. Condron.

War With Russia May Come, But Not Inevitable

The most fateful question facing the world today can be stated in five words: "Is war with Russia inevitable?" Probably something like 5,000,000,000 words have been used in trying to answer it.

The arguments on the positive side are both compelling and depressing. Men of the highest sincerity and ability obviously believe that, sooner or later, the world will be plunged into the most ghastly global conflict it has yet seen, led on the one hand by the Soviet Union and on the other by the United States. But the arguments on the negative side are too powerful. They have been extremely well presented in a Reader's Digest article written by George F. Kennan, counselor of the State Department, and an acknowledged authority on Russia. Because of the importance of the subject, the magazine has waived the usual copyright privileges, and has granted permission to quote from or reprint the article, provided credit is given.

Mr. Kennan presents his arguments for peace in question-and-answer form. First, he asks, "Are the Russians planning to make war on us?" He believes that "current Stalinist doctrine does not demand war," even though Lenin and other leaders frequently said that a communist-capitalist world clash was inevitable. Present-day communist teaching, he points out, holds that capitalism will collapse from within, of its own weakness—hence it does not have to be destroyed from without. Moreover, Russia has never in all history attempted aggression at great distances—she has always expanded slowly, on a bit-by-bit basis. Lastly, she is straining every resource to make herself into a modern industrial state, and war would shatter that program.

Mr. Kennan's second question is, "How does Russia's development of atomic weapons affect this situation?" The available evidence leads him to believe the bomb does not affect it very much. It is extremely unlikely that Russia has anywhere near enough bombs, to say nothing of the means of delivering them, to cripple the U. S. and bring us to immediate terms. If her initial blow were not decisive, she would face merciless retaliation. Her hard-won industrial development, pride of the communist leadership, would face ruin. And, he adds, "The masters of the Kremlin . . . are not suicidally inclined."

Question three consists of three potent words, "Is war possible?" Of course it is, he observes, and for several reasons. Wars can arise by accident. They can result from the fear of attack, and the idea that it is necessary to strike first. They can arise from ignorance of the true situation. So, it would be the worst kind of ostrich-like tactics to write war off as impossible and draw a deep breath of relief. But, on the credit side, Mr. Kennan, finds no "valid reason for regarding war as probable at an early date."

Question four asks, "Where, in these circumstances, must the ascent of U. S. policy lie, with respect to the Communist danger?" First, he argues, we must pursue a "vigorous recourse to shooting war. This means a continuance of the 'cold war' as the best strategy opened to us at the moment. And 'we must continue to take an intelligent and helpful interest in the efforts of people everywhere to withstand the sort of pressures which are brought to bear against them from the Moscow Communist side.' In other words, we must always try to prevent the further expansion of communism."

In this connection, Mr. Kennan doubts the value of an attempt to reach an over-all agreement with the Kremlin. He writes, "The dynamism of world Communism would not be seriously affected by such an agreement. Words would still mean different things to the Russians than they mean to us. An agreement would be worth precisely what the realities of world power made it worth at any particular moment."

Fifth and last, Mr. Kennan asks, "On what, then, does our national security rest in this coming period?" His answer to this falls into four parts. We must, he believes, make sure that military aggression "remains improbable if not impossible," and we must also accept "moderate risks in order that immediate ones may be avoided." We must give our allies the assurance that we are really with them. We must show, in our domestic policy, "that we are seriously tackling the problems of our own society," in both their material and spiritual manifestations. And fourth, "our security rests in continuing to act in a spirit of justice and good will toward others, which will make it possible for us to help a little toward bringing about a general attitude of peaceful co-operation in the world at large."

If we can do this, Mr. Kennan concludes, keeping our eyes on the distant goals we wish to reach, "We will then be doing the best we can in a complex and problematical world. No nation can do more than that."

FAST WORKERS

The old lady had lost her purse and she rushed into the New York station house and tearfully told her story. The desk sergeant was very kind and calmed her fears as best he could. Laying his hand on her arm, he said:

"We will leave no stone unturned to find your purse, madam."

Leaving the building she noticed a group of city workers busy tearing up the street for drainage repair and she remarked to herself:

"Well, they don't lose much time. I'll say that for them."

Louis Johnson, Defense Secretary, is under White House orders to get set to trim defense spending below 13.5 billion dollars for the 1952 fiscal year. The President wants to go into the next campaign year with a declining total of military expenditures, even though he has challenged Russia to an arms race. Military officials do not know how the country is to run the race and get ahead by spending less money for armament.

Joseph Stalin expressed his personal opinion that there is not to be any early war when he released more food and clothing for the Russian people and cut prices so that people could enjoy a little more. Stalin, until now, has been limiting civilians drastically—even for Russia—while building military reserves.

It can now be told why a military convoy was not pushed through to Berlin during the blockade of that city by the Russians. The strategists decided, after much study, that Russian troops merely would blow up a bridge in front of the convoy and a bridge behind, leaving it to sit while the world laughed.

Klaus Fuchs, British atomic scientist who has confessed that he spied for the Russians, actually supplied Russians with all the information they needed to make the A-bomb. Attempt to discount the importance of Fuchs' spying activity does not impress American officials who know what he gave away.

John I. Lewis, coal-mine leader, will continue to run the United Mine Workers even if he does resign as president to give the appearance that a change is occurring. Mr. Lewis, at 70, is supposed to retire and may do so later this year for purposes of public relations.

Democratic leaders in Congress are suggesting to the President that he be his own Secretary of State in the future. Mr. Truman has turned over the direction of his country's foreign relations to Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, and Mr. Acheson is not now popular with Democrats in Congress.

President Truman is convinced that voters will forget the inconvenience and losses due to the coal strike long before the November election. Political advisers concluded that fewer votes would be lost by letting the public go for a while without coal than by having a showdown that might offend the coal miners.

Big Trucks Are Devastation To State Highways

The problem of what to do about the road destruction caused by heavy commercial vehicles seems to be a major headache in practically every state.

An official publication of the Louisiana Department of Highways recently ran an article on the subject, in which it said that a very high percentage of the trucks are violating the weight laws. It then said, "We are building and maintaining heavy-traffic roads for only two percent of the nation's vehicles. . . . This is a pretty large expenditure for such a small segment of traffic."

The Galveston, Texas, News, said editorially, "Today's trucks are almost the size of railroad box cars. Some, with their trailers, are even larger. These not only are wearing on tax-supported highways but they create serious traffic hazards. . . . The trucking industry must bear an equitable share of the cost of maintaining and building the highway system."

Speaking of the taxes paid by the trucks, the Texarkana, Arkansas, Gazette said that they were very small in the light of "the damage done to the roads that must be maintained at the expense of the taxpayer."

So it goes, throughout the country. In the meantime, our roads are breaking down at a faster rate and the cost of maintenance, repair, and building grows larger and larger. "Freight trains on the highways" are a financial strain on every taxpayer. There's lots of talk about it. Let's hope it will soon be implemented with action.

THE ACT

A perceptive commuter has for several weeks been observing the activities of a fellow traveller upon arriving in New York in the morning. The man heads for a ten-cent storage locker, takes out a bulging briefcase, and swings importantly off for the subway and, presumably, an office full of impressed colleagues and superiors.

YEA BOBBIES!

Our congratulations goes to the Dimmitt Bobbies from the Texas Panhandle for winning the girls' basketball championship of Texas. The Bobbies won a hard battle over the defending champions from Seagoville with a 41-31 victory at Waco Saturday, March 12. Canyon in Class A boys, and Gruver in Class B, won the championship in Texas Interscholastic League meet recently in Austin.

The Texas Panhandle already has two state winners and the Dimmitt Bobbies make it the 3rd winner for the books. The Bobbies will clash with the Iowa state champs in Waco March 18, in Waco's Baylor gym, for the Iowa-Texas championship. Go after them Bobbies! Win the Iowa-Texas clash.

Daily Records of CHS Show Unusual Attendance Average

Daily attendance in Junior High and Senior High School has attained a high standard during the six months of school, ending March 3.

From the records of the office the following facts affirm this. Grade 8, with a membership of 60, had 14 tardies, 60.5 days absent and 95% of attendance. Grade 7 with a membership of 61, had 21 tardies, 73.5 days absent and 93% attendance. Grade 9, with membership of 62 has had 50 tardies, 100.5 days absent and 91% attendance.

Grade 10, with a membership of 58, has had 16 tardies, 86.5 days absent and 92% attendance. Grade 11, with a membership of 43, has had 19 tardies, 82.5 days absent and 90% attendance. Grade 12, with a membership of 36, has had 8 tardies, 75 days absent and 90% attendance.

"We appreciate the splendid spirit shown by patrons of our community in making an effort to have their children in school on time regularly. Being in attendance and on time to class will determine in a large measure failure or success in school," states J. E. Miller, principal.

Collar and cuff accessories lead in season's importance.

Grade Notes

A play, Transcontinental Journey, directed by Sibyle Welch, was given last Thursday for 5J.

Mrs. John Robinson gave a birthday party in honor of her daughter, Peggy Jean, last Friday afternoon and included Mrs. Murrell's room. The group played several games and had for their center of attraction, a large pink and white cake. The children sang Happy Birthday and made wishes for Peggy Jean. Refreshments for the event were individual cakes and ice cream.

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Come see the gaily birthday cake decorated as a circus! Ann Ruth Reed's birthday was celebrated March 8 when her mother served cake, nuts, and candy to Mrs. Goodman's third grade. Stunts with a yo-yo by Joseph La Fonte entertained the two third grades last week. He has previously won honors in Houston.

Raising stock begins with boys very young. Jerry Parker won honors with his calf and sold it to Hosa Foster.

A new pupil in this room is Dora Nimmo from Argyle, Texas.

Darla Chostain recently has moved to Oklahoma. Mrs. Tom Platt was a visitor in Mrs. Collins' room last Thursday.

From the teachers' meeting Friday, Mrs. Collins went to Vernon where she spent the week end.

Johnny Baker in Mrs. Black's first grade has been absent because of chicken pox.

The Nature Study Club in Mrs. Brasher's fourth grade met last Thursday and started a study of birds for the month of March.

Another birthday party last week was given for Charlotte Crain, Florence Hacker and Kenneth House by Mrs. F. M. Hacker and Mrs. Newton Crain. The three had birthdays March 2. Refreshments of gold cup cakes, pops, sandwiches, candy and nuts were served at the party held in the Grade School Library for 6I.

Lena Marie La Fonte is back in school after a week of flu.

FHA Girls Hold Various Activities

A practical trip for practical misses! Yep! That's the FHA's field trip to local meat markets described to the peak of perfection.

The members of the homemaking II class, which is divided into two sections, are the misses in this case. Demonstrations of the cutting of beef were given, showing from which part of the animal each cut of meat comes.

One section of the class, accompanied by student teacher, Marie Rea, was given the demonstration by Mr. Murray Boston at Cooper's Market, while the other group, accompanied by Mrs. P. E. Bell, FHA sponsor, watched the demonstration given by Mr. George Hill at Bellah's.

The purpose of the trip was to study meat in general. The class looked for seals of approval as passed by health authorities. They also noticed the different grades of meat.

"These field trips seemed to be very beneficial to the girls and the fine demonstrations given by our local meat handlers were deeply appreciated," says Mrs. Bell.

The FHA met in the film room Monday evening for a program meeting. The topic of the evening was Promoting International Good Will.

A technicolor film showing Walt Disney's trip through South and Central America and Mexico helped to "spice up" the program. The film portrayed the customs and dress of these countries, thus bringing about a better understanding of our southern neighboring countries.

Teddy Howell read a letter that she had received from a high school in Denmark. This letter expressed gratitude to Teddy for gifts sent to her as a part of an FHA project.

A short business meeting was conducted and plans for the chapter attending the area meeting at Borger, March 25 were discussed.

Honor Society Is To Be Renewed

The Canyon Chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools will be re-activated in the near future.

The society is an organization for outstanding students in grades ten, eleven and twelve.

To create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership and to encourage a development of character in students of Canyon High will be the objects of the chapter.

A council composed of the high school principal and four faculty members will determine who shall become members. Any faculty member may propose to the council the names of students eligible for membership.

Membership will be based on scholarship, service, leadership and character. Any member of the society who falls below standards will be subject to suspension from the chapter. The Canyon High members of the society will be selected sometime before the closing of school.

"The Canyon Chapter of the National Honor Society should encourage the students of CHS to greater efforts to develop the characteristics required for membership in the society. The boys or girls chosen will have to be of high caliber and that within itself will be an exceptional honor to be gained by a high school student," states principal J. E. Miller.

CHS Eagles Feast on Fat of the Land

Various honoring entertainments have followed the Canyon High School Eagles' winning of the State Basketball Championship of Class A. The first of these was a luncheon given by the Canyon Rotary Club, last Tuesday, after the Eagles returned from Austin. Mr. J. E. Miller, CHS principal, introduced George Scott, coach of the Champs, who made a short talk and then introduced the basketball squad. Following the presentation of the team, a program featuring work being done for crippled children was presented.

The Canyon Quarterback Club is sponsoring a banquet for the Eagles at the West Texas State College cafeteria on the evening of March 23. Mr. Adolph Rupp, coach of the University of Kentucky, will be the guest speaker. A large number of schools in the Panhandle area have been sent invitations to attend the banquet. The Gruver basketball team, State Champions of Class B, has been invited as special guest.

Tickets for the banquet are limited and those desiring to attend should obtain one as soon as possible. The price of tickets is $2.50 each. Contact Delbert Lowes, Johnny McBroom, Jack Taylor, or Hosea Foster for tickets.

Monday evening, a steak supper was given for the Eagles and the Eaglettes, by Mr. Tony Burrus, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Burrus. Mr. Burrus fulfilled a promise he made at the beginning of the season that he would do his part by giving a steak supper if the boys won State.

James Maroney, ex-student of CHS and outstanding athlete, is now working at the Bell Telephone Company in Amarillo.

Four Boys and Two Girls Make Canyon High Junior Who's Who

Selection Breaks Custom of Predominance of Girls

For the first time in seven years, there are more boys than girls in the Junior Who's Who. The ratio is four to two. How did this happen?

This election is based on citizenship, scholarship, loyalty, initiative, achievement, co-operation, personality and dependability. Six juniors again make up Junior Who's Who. Outstanding are: Merle Bullard, Linda Dooley, James Miller, Archie Money, Billy Morton and Archie Phelps.

Merle Bullard in her sophomore year was class favorite and secretary of FHA. She has been a member of the choir two years and this year treasurer of the organization. Also, she is secretary of the Junior Class, president of FHA, manager of basketball and volleyball, and was Hallow'en queen.

Linda Dooley, the other girl, has played volleyball two years, won an English award in her sophomore year, is a two year member of PHA. She is a member of the SFC and was in the Junior Play.

James Miller is a member of the band, Spanish Club and SFC alternate. He was also on the 'B' string in football and a member of the Junior Play cast.

Claude Money was parliamentarian of the sophomore class and member of the Junior High Track. He has been on both 'A' and 'B' squad in football and also is now a member of the choir.

Billy Morton is Junior Class Favorite and was manager of football and played basketball.

Archie Phelps is a three year member of band and is vice-president of it this year, and is president of the Spanish Club.

Olin Culberson Enters the Race Texas Governor

OLIN CULBERSON

Olin Culberson, a member of the Railroad Commission, has announced his candidacy for Governor of Texas in the following statement:

"Firmly believing that a change in attitude is necessary toward the wasteful operation and run-away cost of our state government, I am formally announcing my candidacy for Governor of Texas.

"A great deal has been said about the soaring cost of the federal government. In the fifteen year period between 1935 and 1950, and exclusive of the cost of wars and affairs incidental to them, the annual cost of the federal government has increased 280%.

"But little has been said about the fact that during the same period 1935 to 1950, the cost of our state government has increased almost 500%—from $111,000,000 in 1935 to approximately $550,000,000 in 1950.

"The policy seems to be to spend for most any purpose when money is available, and then levy a new tax when some emergency arises. We have seen just such a situation within the last few weeks when an $80,000,000 sales tax was placed on the people of Texas.

"Much is always said about the emergency, but never a word about the wasteful and extravagant policies that emptied the treasury and created the emergency. The talk is always about some necessity for spending more, but never about the need for spending less and spending it more wisely.

"I propose to talk about such things in my campaign which will be opened later and carried to every section of Texas."

By FRANK A. GODSOE, JR.

Congratulations to the Canyon Quarterback Club for bagging Adolph Rupp of the University of Kentucky for the state championship banquet of George Scott's tall, terrific Eagles!

The "Baron of Basketball" may be an even greater banquet entertainer than he is a coach. He easily is the most famous basketball coach in America.

Rupp can lay 'em in the aisles. Here's a sample:

Not so long ago, the Baron was accused by a Big Ten coach of raiding the North for basketball talent. In his denunciation of Rupp, the off-putting coach included an old Southern expression, "Carpetbagging."

A short time later, Rupp was invited to speak at a banquet in Ohio, deep in Big Ten territory. The banquet chairman, eager to have Rupp's name on the program, asked what his subject would be.

"My text," the Baron replied, "will be: 'A Carpetbagger in the Holy Land.'"

Once, when drilling a freshman group in fighting for the ball under the basket, he exhorted them: "Beat the other fellow to the charge. Hit Hard! Remember, the Bible says, 'It is better to give than to receive.'"

"But coach," countered one of his players, "I always thought the Bible said, 'Love thine enemies.'"

"That's the old version of it," Rupp snapped back. "But the Rules Committee changed it."

One of the legends about the Baron is that the door to his office is 6 feet, 2 inches high. They say if a prospect walks in and doesn't bump his head, Rupp won't even bother to shake hands.

Once the fans got on him after an official called a technical foul because Rupp was yelling instructions from the bench. But he had the answer as usual:

"Hell," said Rupp, "my coaching is worth a technical foul any time!"

The 1935 Kentucky team, which starred big Roy Edwards, was one of the nation's best. It went East with an unbeaten record to play NYU, losing 23-22 in the last seconds when a foul was called against Edwards for screening—which is a basketball crime in the East. Rupp hasn't quit yelling about the officiating yet. When newsmen interviewer on his return he had a classic explanation. "I really don't know what happened," said the Baron. "While riding back yesterday I turned on the radio. A broadcast came on from one of the New York churches. The minister used as his text, 'He Was a Stranger and They Took Him In.' That is all I know about what happened."

Rupp in 1944 was named to Basketball's Hall of Fame, established by the Heims Athletic Foundation. He belongs there.

The Baron and Oklahoma A&M's Henry Iba get on famously. Iba tells everybody that Rupp is the best in the business. Rupp usually tabs Iba.

Both have been invited to coach rival All-Star teams again this year at the Texas High School Coaching School at Austin. It will be Rupp's fourth appearance at the school.

He had the big boys a year ago and beat Iba twice. Iba beat him with the "little boys" at the New Mexico school at Albuquerque the following week. A year ago their collegiate teams played for the national championship, Kentucky winning a close one.

The Baron will be in Canyon the night of March 23. Lawrence Brotherton's Gruver Greyhounds also will be honored guests. The Canyon Quarterback Club may as well make up its mind right now to put up with a few gate crashers.

Thomas H. Briggs, professor of education: "If lay critics of schools had to buy licenses, we might have enough money to run the public schools and our financial worries would be much lighter."

What About Your Congressman?

To All the People of the 18th Congressional District:

Here is a COMMON SENSE
Platform

E. T. BURK
FOR CONGRESS

BOWLEGS: All the bowed legs in Texas are not on cowboys. A good many arched shanks are on persons who straddle political fences.

The platform of E. T. Burk, a candidate in the special election and the Democratic Primary for Congress, is different, and if you don't believe it, read on. If you want common-sense in government, read on.

E. T. Burk is a successful Amarillo businessman. For years, he operated the Amarillo Furniture Company and made many, many friends. He is a long-time Panhandle resident, a Methodist, an ordinary hard-working citizen.

E. T. Burk does not need the congressional office as a means of making a living. He is not rich, but he has worked hard and saved his money. He does not seek a political career. He is paying all costs of his campaign for congress and is not shocked by any individual or group. Everybody can depend on him.

COMMON SENSE—Briefly, E. T. Burk's platform is COMMON SENSE in Government.

PEACE—Without international peace, nothing else counts. E. T. Burk pledges himself to work unceasingly for the promotion of peace. He is willing to devote the rest of his life to it. He believes strongly in preparedness and adequate national defense. He believes in a common-sense approach to the promotion of international understanding.

FARM PROBLEM—Agriculture is basic. It produces our food and fiber. E. T. Burk believes that the Congress should pass constructive, sound legislation to be administered by farmers.

LABOR—Common sense, fairness, understanding can do more than political maneuvering to bring industrial peace. Spite legislation is bad.

GENERAL WELFARE—Everything a member of Congress does should be weighed carefully to determine whether it promotes the general welfare.

IN GENERAL—E. T. Burk is a Democrat of long standing. He believes in economic operation of government and in keeping down taxes. He believes in private enterprise. He wants the government close to the people, intimate, warm. He believes in good public schools and adequate pay for teachers, but always with administration in local hands.

Do you want common-sense in government? Do you want a congressman who is not seeking a pay-check or a political career? Do you want a congressman who is paying the freight and is not pledged to represent just a few but every citizen of the district?

Typhoid Fever Will Soon Be Here—Clean Up to Avoid Disease

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, says that the season of the year when typhoid fever is most prevalent will soon be here and urges everyone to clean up their premises to eliminate flies and other insects. A town is only as clean as the individual citizens and public health should be everyone's concern.

The typhoid germ travels from an infected person to the well person; this is generally accomplished by water, milk, flies, fingers, or food. Every case is contracted by way of the mouth and digestive system.

A carrier is a person who has had typhoid fever at some time and who even after recovery carries the germ of the disease in the urine and discharge of the bowels. Carriers who are careless in their personal habits are likely to infect any food they handle with unwashed hands. Some of the most serious and far reaching outbreaks of the disease have been caused by drinking milk or eating foods that have been handled by carriers. Persons may be carriers without knowing it.

Typhoid fever is unnecessary and preventable. Every case is due either to community negligence or to the carelessness of some individual. Persons planning a vacation or trip where sanitation may not be rigidly enforced should protect themselves against this disease by being immunized. Its prevention is accomplished by the enforcement of public health measures to protect food, milk, and water supplies, and by immunization. The purity of water, milk or food cannot be judged by looking at it, so the best thing to do is to play safe and have your physician protect you.

Oscar Chapman, Secretary of the Interior, was pictured by some officials as all set to make a deal with John Lewis, giving the coal-mine leader much of what he wanted, in event the Government seized the coal mines. Officials recall that Mr. Lewis made about the best deal of his life when he settled with Julius Krug, former Interior Secretary, during a period of Government mine operation.

There is an undercurrent of feeling, privately expressed, among some important Republican members of Congress that the party should not try too hard to win control of the Senate and House in 1950. Otherwise, Mr. Truman could again blame Congress for all of the country's troubles, and GOP chances in 1952 might be hurt.

The louder he talked about his honor the faster we counted our spoons.—R. W. Emerson.

Senator Byrd's Budget Would Save 6 Billions

Practically everyone talks about our huge budget. But few people know very much about it, and fewer still have any concrete ideas to offer on how it might be reduced. Senator Byrd of Virginia, whose career has been characterized by an intense interest in fiscal matters, is one of the exceptions. He has proposed a specific Federal budget for 1951 which is very different in many particulars from that urged by President Truman. These differences are graphically shown in an analysis prepared by Alvin A. Burger, research director of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce.

The Byrd budget would total $36,000,000,000 as compared with the Truman budget's $42,439,000,000—a saving of $6,439,000,000. The major items which would contribute to make this saving are: 1. Reduce Federal employment, for a saving of $900,000,000. 2. Reduce outlays for public works and other such projects, for a saving of $1,000,000,000. 3. Cut expenditures for National Defense—largely by reducing the number of civilian employees of the forces, and by eliminating various military government activities—for a saving of $2,200,000,000. 4. Cut outlays for veterans' benefits for a saving of $900,000,000. In only one instance is Mr. Byrd's budget larger than Mr. Truman's. He would appropriate $4,800,000,000 for foreign outlays where the President recommends, $4,700,000,000.

Based on anticipated revenues, the Byrd budget would result in a surplus of $1,300,000,000 to be used to reduce the national debt. The Truman budget would involve a deficit for the fiscal year of $5,100,000,000.

Mr. Burger has carried on his analysis to show what the taxpayers of each state would save if the Byrd budget were adopted. He has done this through a formula made up of the percentage of individual income taxes collected from each state, and the proportion of corporate income taxes and excise and miscellaneous taxes, excluding the social security levies, borne by each state.

According to this formula, the taxpayers of New York, who bear 14.67 per cent of the total cost of the Federal government, would save $944,601,300. The taxpayers of California, who bear 8.32 per cent of the costs, would save $535,724,800. The taxpayers of Ohio, who bear 5.78 per cent of the total, would save $372,174,200. The taxpayers of Montana, who bear about one-third of one percent of the total, would save $22,536,500. So it goes, in the large and small states.

Senator Byrd has given the Senate and the nation a definite budget to weigh against the much more costly Truman budget.

The President is continuing to get turn-downs from big-name economists who are offered the job, now open, of Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Leon Keyserling, acting Chairman, may yet get the job on a formal basis although the White House would like someone less definitely lined up with the "Fair Deal" program and with less definite ties to organized labor.

Talk of a big private loan to Great Britain, going the rounds in some financial circles, is heavily discounted by Government officials who know what is happening. It is doubted that a private loan would be underwritten by bankers, and Congress is cool to the idea of a new Government loan.

Paul Hoffman picked 2.95 billion dollars as the amount for Marshall Plan aid in the year ahead to make it sound like a bargain. Congress is planning to go one better and make the figure 2-5 billion or under.

Brother of LeRoy LaMaster Here to Campaign Congress

LeROY LaMASTER

G. R. LaMaster of Perryton was in Canyon Thursday campaigning for his brother LeRoy, who is a candidate for Congress to succeed Gene Worley.

LeRoy, or "Pete" as he is known in Perryton, is very active in the campaign, and his brother was out trying to help him in the campaign.

The News has received a strong endorsement of LaMaster from Van W. Stewart, publisher of the Ochiltree County Herald and president of the Texas Press Association.

Joel H. Hildebrand, dean, College of Chemistry, University of California, referring to loyalty oath: "Communists will willing take the oath, because oaths mean nothing to them."

Filip E. E. Oksyabrysky, Russian admiral: "The interest and security of our country demand further strengthening of the naval forces."

BOYCE HOUSE

Of all the people who made up the colorful frontier town of Fort Griffin, near Albany, none provoked more talk from the townsmen than Lott Deno, some 70 years ago.

And there was none they knew less about than they did Lott, attractive, medium-sized and red-haired mystery woman. Many of the town's toughest six-shooter toters had looked at Lott's black sparkling eyes across a gambling table.

Lott Deno had no friends, and she never appeared in public except to visit one of the gambling halls where she won frequently.

Because the mystery woman had the manners of a lady and dressed more fashionably than any other woman in Fort Griffin, many fantastic stories made the rounds. Some believed that she was born in wealth and was highly educated while living in the East.

Just what brought her West where she sat unperturbed amid oaths of men in desperate conflict and often witnessed blood shed following pistol duels over crooked card games no one seemed to know for sure.

Lott's name frequently was linked romantically with that of Johnny

Golden. But that was after Johnny was dead and Lott had packed her belongings and left.

Johnny Golden was shot to death one day during an affray with two officers who had arrested him for a law violation and were attempting to take him to jail.

Romantic-minded old timers often told how Lott, the woman they believed had nerves of steel, almost fainted when she learned of Johnny Golden's death. They found letters in Johnny's possession which indicated he was a castaway son of a wealthy Eastern family.

After his death, Lott never returned to the gambling halls, and had food sent to her little shanty where people believed she lived in grief. Then one day Lott rode out of town on an east-bound coach without bidding farewell to anyone.

The owner of the little shanty, to whom Lott had always paid her rent a month in advance, summoned the Sheriff from the county seat at Albany. Inside the house, the sheriff found a note requesting that the expensive furniture she had left be sold and the money given to charity.

From generation to generation, the story of Lott Deno, the mystery woman of Fort Griffin, was handed down, and probably even today there are some who still wonder if Lott had followed Johnny Golden from his Eastern home to the frontier town and what her destination was after her departure.

5,000 Cases of Venereal Disease In Texas in 1950

The more than 2,000 cases of syphilis and 3,000 cases of gonorrhea reported throughout the State since the first of the year signifies the pressing need for continuing public education in matters of venereal disease, State Health Officer Geo. W.
Cox believes.

Cox appealed for state-wide participation in making "Better Health for Texans" a year long program.
A "Better Health for Texans Week" was officially designated by Gov-nor Allan Shivers last December.

Cox said the response of the public,
the press, radio, motion picture theaters, television, and "other agencies and individuals during the campaign was excellent."

"But," he said, "the continued success in reducing the incidence of VD requires the full support of all the public."

The veteran of more than 13 years as State Health Officer said his department was continuing an "intensified" campaign against venereal infections through "all media of mass education—newspapers, radio, feature releases, and talks to luncheon clubs and civic organizations."

"We've even gone into television to carry our VD warning to the people," Cox asserted. He said his division of public health education had recently produced a color film and a motion picture trailer which were available for loan to television stations through local health agencies.

He said any organization desiring informational pamphlets, posters, and prepared speeches on the subject of venereal disease could get them by writing to the State Department of Health in Austin.

THE CURE

A five-year-old boy had been having trouble at the hands of a small school-fellow. One day on his return from school, he remarked to his mother: "Johnny isn't nasty to me any more. Every time I see him,
I hit him to keep him kind."

LITTLE COOL

"I would like to meet you again," he murmured as they glided through the waltz. "What about letting me have your telephone number?"

"It's in the book," she told him.
"Good! What's your name?"

"You'll find that in the book too."

MIRACLES

From a farmer's journal: If a man reaches into a hat and pulls out a rabbit, it's magic. If a woman reaches into her handbag and pulls out a door key, it's a miracle.

One honor won is surety for more.—La Rochefoucauld.

ALL ELEVEN

The Britisher was talking of coincidences: "The most amazing thing happened to me at the races.
It was the eleventh day of the eleventh month. My boy was eleven that day. We lived in a house numbered eleven, and I arrived on the course at eleven. Later in the day I found that eleven horses were to run in the big race, so I backed the eleventh horse on the card."

"And it won?"

"No. It came in eleventh."
